SENSATION IN ROME.

A Boy of ex-Premier Crispi Charged with Stealing Jewelry.

Rome, Sept. 18.—A charge of theft of jewelry, brought against Signor Luigi Crispi, a lawyer, and a natural son of the former premier, is creating a sensation. It appears that the lawyer had an intrigue with Countess Cellere and had a key to her house. In April, 1895, jewelry valued at 20,000 lire ($6000) was stolen from the apartments of the countess, and suspicion pointed to the lawyer, but the police refused to prosecute him. He afterwards threatened to bring legal proceedings against the countess, claiming she had stolen the robbery. The charge against Crispi is now revived and is being investigated.
It is alleged that political allies of the ex-premier, when the charges were first made, offered to recover the countess for her loss, admitting young Crispi was a Mephistopheles. The lawyer is now in Buenos Ayres.

THE GUARD DOUBLED

Big Force of Police and Sentinels Guarding Powder Magazine at Woolwich.

A Great National Deliverance is Due to the Energy of the Detectives.

Will Tynan's Extra Informer?—Brief Sketch of the Alleged Dynamiter's Career.

London, Sept. 18.—As a result of the alleged disclosures said to have been made by the finding of documents approving of Edward J. Tynan, alias Edward Bell, of New York, who has been brought to this city from Glasgow on a charge of being concerned in the dynamite conspiracy, the number of policemen on duty in plain clothes at the houses of parliament, Mansion House, Royal Exchange, National Gallery, British Museum, St. Paul's Cathedral, Westminster Abbey and other public buildings, has been doubled. The war office has taken additional precautions here.

The sensational story circulated in the United States to the effect that the Prince of Wales had been injured while out shooting at Tulchan lodge, Sessoun Place, in the Highlands of Scotland, is a canard.

London, Sept. 18.—The war office has doubled the force of police and sentinels who are guarding the powder magazine at Woolwich.

The Daily News, in an editorial, thinks that there is evidence in what the Scotland Yard detectives have found out of traces of a serious conspiracy, not against the Queen, but possibly against the Czar, and certainly against the peace and safety of the realm. The Daily News thinks this evidence is conclusive, and says: "We owe a great national deliverance to the energies of the detectives."

The Daily News dispatch from Bonlogne says: "The warrant for Tynan's arrest must pass through diplomatic channels before it is valid. As the prisoner is held administratively by the French government, it alone can decide the question of extradition, and not the tribunals."

The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says: "The sweeping denial of the French press that Tynan's plot was directed against the Czar holds ill for the extradition. The present government certainly has not worked the indecisive, as the Duc de Broglie and Ferry cabinets certainly worked them for an end connected with Egypt and Sudan.
There is no doubt that a confederate of Parnell was sent on a mission to the Mediterranean, and while General Gordon was besieged in Khartoum. Still the feeling of the government is likely to be the same as under Trevelyan and Carnot, unless the Czar objects, they may be disposed to regard Tynan's offence as political. Tynan was allowed to pose before the prosecutor to-day as a highsouled patriot, innocent of the Phoenix Park murders. There was an evident desire to make him out a mistaken patriot. As Poland, however, is in the same case to French eyes as Ireland, they may not do to him too much upon the patriotic chord upon the eve of the visit of the Czar."

The Daily News also has a dispatch from Berlin, which says the papers there had the vigilance of the British police, and express the hope that the French police will likewise be equal to their task, and will remember President Carnot during the Czar's visit.

The Daily News prints the rumor that Tynan will turn informer, and suggests that this explains his long immunity from arrest, and also Le Caron's assen-sion to Tynan in the government's secret service.

The Standard's Paris correspondent claims to be able to state that the French government has received no application from England for the extradition of Tynan. The correspondent also reports that Le Temps claims to know that the plot was Fenian, and are in no way aimed against the Czar.

The Times accounts the idea that the amateurs of Europe are leagued with Tynan.

A Boulogne dispatch to the Times says that Tynan wears a cap and a rony when he was captured.

Dublin, Sept. 18.—The executive today took steps to bring about the extradition of Tynan, in custody at Boulogne-sur-Mer, France, on the ground of his being implicated in the Phoenix park murders.

Antwerp, Sept. 18.—The chevrons who sold out to Kearney and Haines, the men arrested here on suspicion of being concerned in the dynamite plot, states that the quantity handled was so large that he despaired. Upon this Tynan's followers produced letters of recommendation signed by a large New York chemical firm.

Boulogne-sur-Mer, Sept. 18.—Frederick Gallagher, representing himself as a cousin of Tynan, in company with a journalist, visited Tynan at his residence, and sought to obtain access to Tynan in prison. The strictest precautions are being taken to prevent any attempt at a rescue of the prisoner.
The public prosecutor permitted Gallagher to write a series of questions, which were submitted to Tynan, who only replied to one effect, that he did not desire legal assistance and that he refused to answer the questions. It is learned that Tynan embarked at New York under the alias of London, and that he betrayed at Gibraltar en route, where he obtained leave from the authorities to inspect a part of the fortifications. Tynan had $50 in his possession when arrested.

New York, Sept. 18.—The records of the court of common pleas show P. J.

Tynan, the dynamite suspect under arrest at Boulogne, France, has been a citizen of the United States since August, 1888.

Kansas City, Sept. 18.—According to a local paper, the arrest of Tynan and Kearney is a verification of the statement made years ago by Captain Thos.
Udolan, of this city, that the two noted dynamite propagandists which had headquarters in this country. Phelan was the first man. It is said to mention the name of Kearney as an active dynamite furnisher, and nearly paid with his life for giving out the information, and for the charge that O'Donovan Rossa was a traitor. Capt. Phelan, who is a broadswordsmen of note, was at the time a city official in Kansas City. He went to New York at the time of the Fenian excitement, and finally to Europe. In search of information relative to the movements of the men connected with the plots then existing. He became acquainted with Kearney, and to him Kearney told of his intention to place an infernal machine on the Atlantic steamer Queen, set to explode two hours after the steamer should reach Liverpool. Phelan confided the information to the Queen's officials, and later told of the occurrence to a New York paper and implicated Rossa. This interview, the giving away of Kearney's name and the implied charge of traitor against Rossa was what caused Phelan's attempted assassination in New York city later.

Boulogne-sur-Mer, Sept. 18.—M. Bossux, deputy public prosecutor, in charge of the case against P. J. Tynan, the alleged Irish dynamiter, received a violent letter this morning informing him in the name of the committee of Irishmen and Anarchist Brotherhood, that unless Tynan is released within twenty-four hours, he (M. Bossux) will be blown up with dynamite. The letter is written with a red fluid believed to be blood, is dated Sept. 17th, and was posted at Lyon, the capital of the department of Ain, about 80 miles from Paris.

Patrick J. Tynan, or "No. 1," as he has called himself, has lived in New York and its environs since 1883. He came to the United States early in 1883 and secured employment as a reporter, working on several papers. He also gave considerable attention to American political movements. He was a stump speaker during the presidential campaign of 1888, and made a tour of the south in the interest of General Harrison. Through the influence of the late James G. Blaine he was appointed to a position in the ap-praiser's office during President Harrison's administration, resigning soon after the inauguration of Cleveland.

Tynan's book, entitled "The Irish National Inviolables and Their Times," was published in 1894. The book purported to be a true history of the Phoenix Park murders. Tynan gave the names of many persons, then living, as accessories to the crime. He also tried to implicate Parnell, who was then dead, with the doings of the Irish inviolables. The book and its author were denounced by the various Irish societies.
Some patriots went so far as to say that Tynan received a money consideration for his literary production.

Tynan was regarded as too anxious to pose as "No. 1," and not a few openly arrogated that he had nothing whatever to do with the Phoenix Park murders.
They argue that he is too anxious to talk to be trusted with a secret mission.
Tynan lived with friends in a handsome home in Audubon Park, N.Y. He went away from his home ostensibly to arrange the details of a division of some property that was left to his mother and himself by his brother, Father Jas. Tynan, a priest at Valparaiso. P. J. Tynan said that his share of the property would be in the neighborhood of $20,000.

In order to secure this he said it was necessary for him to visit Valparaiso.
His wife heard nothing further of his movements or whereabouts until the cable announcing his arrest.

Tynan has a family of eight children, two sons and six daughters. His eldest son, Brandon Tynan, is an actor. He has played minor parts in one of Fro-don's companies. He is now in London with one of his sisters. Tynan, before he left this country, said that he was going to stump the South for McKinley and Hobart. An attempt was made to extradite Tynan from this country in 1883, but refused. Before he came to this country Tynan was a commercial traveller, and in that capacity travelled all over Europe.

THE NILE EXPEDITION.

The Advance on Dongola—Fighting Expected at Kerna.

Barja, Sept. 18.—The next advance will be to Khabdeh, on the third cataract of the Nile, which point will be occupied by the Sirdar, Sir Herbert Kitchener, and the main force of the expedition. Khabdeh is only about four miles from and within easy striking distance of Kerna, which is just above the third cataract, and which the dervishes have made the rallying point for heavy reinforcements of cavalry. Kerna has been looked to as the point where the first battle would occur, but the reconnaissances thus far made have failed to develop any force of the enemy. It is not expected, however, after the desperate kind of fighting done by the dervishes at Firket, that they will retire from Kerna without a fight.

The expedition of the Anglo-Egyptian troops, numbering about 15,000 men, under the Sirdar, Gen. Sir Herbert Kitchener, have arrived from Firket, after a wearisome march of eight miles over a very bad country. Intense heat pre-valled, but the troops are all in first class condition. The present stopping place is only 15 miles from Kerna, where the dervishes are known to be concentrating a strong force of cavalry and infantry. The scouts, however, have not sighted any dervishes although they were pushed forward a considerable distance.

Harsh negative remedies are fast being way to the gentle action and mild effects of Carter's Little Liver Pills. If you try them they will certainly please you.

A GIGANTIC STEAL.

Mr. Richardson Brings to Light
Some Artistic Tupperite Boodling.

Every Likelihood Attorney-General
Sifton Will Get the Valiant Portfolio.

Booth on the Requirements of
B. C.—Retrenchment and Economy.

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—Members of the late government had an uneasy hour and a half last night in supply, when the estimates for the Kingston Penitentiary came up. Mr. Richardson called attention to the binding twine industry and gave the house the benefit of a most disgraceful history in connection with the same. Mr. Richardson showed how the whole business was exploited to reward beilers for past services, and charged that Robert Rogers and his clerk or factotum, a W. Cranton, of Clearwater, had between them secured over $2000 worth of twine, which was doubtless a reward for political services rendered to the Conservative party by Rogers, as president of the Manitoba Conservative Association, and the same thing seems to have prevailed all over the country. He thought if a commission were appointed it would show a shameful scandal, as it possessed worse phases than the famous McGreevy-Cousins scandal.

Sir Herbert Tupper interrupted to ask where Mr. Richardson got his information, but Mr. Richardson declined to state, saying that it was sufficient for the house to know that the statements given were actual facts.

The Solicitor-General informed Mr.
Tupper, amid applause, that he had furnished Mr. Richardson with the information, and that his statements given to the house were correct.

Sir Herbert tried to make the house believe that Rogers' account was for 1885 twine.

Many members took part in the debate, and the conclusion was that the matter was so serious that the debate should be adjourned so it could come up again.

The debate which occurred yesterday on the fast Atlantic service subsidy made it clear to the country that members are against giving the subsidy, as they do not believe that the benefits conferred would be of any benefit to the agricultural classes; and the sentiment in parliament is very sincerely in favor of tilers of the soil.

Toronto, Sept. 18.—The four policemen who carried Li Hung Chang in his bamboo chair at the Industrial Exhibition were to-day presented with handsome silver medals, the gift of His Excellency. Washington policemen refused to perform this service and many commended them for it.

Hon. Jos. Martin is here in connection with the vacant portfolio of the interior.
He is accompanied by W. W. Watson, Frank S. Nugent and D. W. Eola, of Winnipeg, who are said to be supporting Hon. Mr. Martin for the position.
There is every likelihood that Attorney-General Sifton will be the man.

There was a government caucus this forenoon. Mr. Scriver is the chair.
The programme to be pursued for the balance of the session was discussed and adopted. An important discussion took place on the much talked of question of the dismissal of employees, and reference was made to the partnership which prevailed in civil service to such an extent as to prevent public business being transacted with effect. Mr.
Laurier and other ministers impressed upon the party the necessity for retrenchment and economy in all departments of public service. Reference was also made to the fact that many of the government supporters in the house were so long trained in opposition that they are now doing too much talking to permit of the speedy dispatch of the estimates.

Mr. Hewitt Booth's resolution "that in the opinion of the house it will be in the interests of immigration and the development of the Dominion for the government to collect all the information possible with respect to the mining interests of British Columbia and other provinces of the Dominion and attend to the proper distribution of the same," was carried.

Mr. Booth carried that the government would take hold of the matter and introduce legislation to prevent propositions of an unscrupulous kind being foisted upon the market and hold the promoters of such concerns responsible to the public for the truth of their statements.
British Columbia, he added, was anxious to see capital brought into the country, and recognized that if this sort of thing were allowed to continue, and investors lose their money, it would be a great set-back to mining and the prosperity would have to suffer the consequences. He hoped that all information available to the geological survey statistics bureau would be brought up to date, and that the statistical staff would be increased so that fuller and more reliable information could be brought forward and given to the public. He said further that he had no hesitation in saying that the mining development of British Columbia was the hope of this country. All looked to the province to attract immigration from abroad.

Winnipeg, Sept. 18.—Hon. T. M.
Dorr, being interviewed here, said he might consent to become a candidate for Brandon if the Conservatives thought it in the best interests of the party.

The preliminary objections to the Winnipeg election protest were heard to-day and adjournment made till to-morrow.

ST. CHARLES STREET SEWER.

Nothing will be gained by the Colonist in its attempt to beguile its readers about the proposal of the council to give the residents of "the hill" relief from the present nuisance on St. Charles street. There are serious engineering difficulties in the way, as was pointed out yesterday, in making a connection along Richardson street with the sewer on Cook street. Equally serious difficulties exist on Belcher street. Possibly these difficulties could be surmounted by the expenditure of a large sum of money, say four or five times as much as it is proposed to spend in carrying the sewer down St. Charles street. But the council have not got the money and must cut the coat from the cloth they have. The removal of the nuisance from the centre of St. Charles street to its foot will be a great improvement, although not a final settlement of the difficulty. It is the best solution the city engineer can provide, under the circumstances, and when its cost and the cost of the Colonist's uphill route are considered, it seems the only one that can be adopted. The sewerage committee are acting upon the advice of the engineer, as they have always done.

AS VIEWED FROM LONDON.

The Canadian Gazette sees nothing to cause alarm in Mr. Laurier's statement regarding reciprocity. This clearness of vision may be due to the absence of partisan motives; though the Gazette has always been in sympathy with the Conservative party of the Dominion it does not harbor any desire to misrepresent the Liberals and invent lies about them. On the reciprocity question it says: "No one, so far as we have heard, suggests that the political integrity of Canada was impaired by the Elgin treaty of 1859-60. Indeed, Sir John Macdonald himself, and, later on, Sir Charles Tupper, labored hard for its enactment as a whole or in part. Why, then, should Canada fight shy of the kindred proposal which Mr. Laurier now outlines? Her loyalty is, we imagine, based upon sentiment and material advantages, and neither would be weakened by the kind of reciprocal arrangement with the United States which would be acceptable to British statesmen, and, we may add, to Canadian statesmen. Whether the United States will assent to such an arrangement is, of course, another question altogether, and, in the chaotic state of opinion in that country, it would be rash to attempt to answer it. Mr. Laurier has sent out his invitation. It is for the people of the United States to say, when they have got over their silver fever, whether they will accept it or not." The Colonist and other Conservative organs would stand better with the public and with their own consciences if they would follow the Canadian Gazette's example, instead of repeating stale old lies and concocting new ones in the vain hope of making a point against the Laurier government.

At its meeting in Winnipeg the Anglican synod passed what may be termed the stock resolution in favor of religious teaching in the public schools. Whereupon the Winnipeg Tribune offers this just comment: The fact of the matter appears to be that some members of the synod hope to perpetuate in our land a condition of things that is rapidly becoming intolerable even in old England, the home of the established church. It has come to this, that religious teaching in the day schools in the form of dogmas and merely formal rules of conduct must go, and the sooner we come to that the better for the state and for religion itself. Then will the denomination that is most zealous and most loyal to truth accomplish most and have the greatest following. If the church had more faith in itself and its power to evangelize the world, and if it placed less dependence on secular institutions, Christianity would be much the better for it.

It is utterly useless for Tory journals to try to throw on the Liberals the responsibility for lengthening the session. Parliament was called together for the purpose of passing the supplies, and the Liberals have shown complete willingness to do that work and bring on the program. On the other hand Sir Charles Tupper, Mr. Foster and their followers persist in discussing matters that have no possible connection with the estimates. The latter, by the way, are practically those drawn up by Mr. Foster himself, with a few reductions here and there. The country might therefore have expected to see the Opposition approve them rather than find fault. The truth is that the Opposition members want their full $1000 of seasonal indemnity, now that the spoils of office are no longer available. As the necessary thirty days have now elapsed, the Opposition members will probably be content to draw the $1000 and withdraw their obstructionist objections. Their object has been achieved.

About forty years ago Great Britain went to war with Russia to save the Turk, pouring out blood and treasure in the fulfilment of this pious purpose. Now Russia steps in to save the Turk when Great Britain threatens him with punishment for his sins. If the great powers always acted on Christian principles and not from selfish motives these little entanglements would not occur.

DR. GEORGE DUNCAN'S APPOINTMENT.

To the Editor: I noticed with satisfaction in your last evening's issue that we are getting more enlightened on the appointment of Dr. George Duncan to the Quarantine station at William Head. There has been a great deal of chucking among our Conservative friends to think that he will get the appointment after all, but they had better wait until the egg has actually been hatched before calling it a chicken. Why, sir, if that official who out-Heroded Herod in his endeavors to prevent us winning the election, breaking regulations he had himself laid down, he allowed to retain his official head, then in justice I say let all those who have been dismissed be reinstated. Who sent the Liberal sanitary officer into the country to hunt up a mythical leper, wishing him to start at 2 a.m. the morning of the election? How is it, Mr. Editor, that this was never cleared up, nor an investigation held as to the taking of inmates from the Old Men's Home to the polls; but perhaps the enquiry was held and your last evening's issue also that Dr. George Duncan had been entertaining friends last Sunday on board the government disinfecting steamer Earle, Query—Who pays for this, Dr. George Duncan or the government? If this thing goes on the people will lose all faith in the Liberals. Col. Prior's remarks in the house that Dr. George Duncan was a gentleman well fitted for the position at William Head appears to the majority of the people of Victoria like a piece of sarcasm.

JUSTITIA.

THE DISMISSAL OF CIVIL SERVANTS.

To the Editor: There is a great deal of talk going on in the Conservative ranks at Ottawa against the dismissal of civil servants by the government. In the name of common sense what did they imagine was to be done; did they, when they stepped into power, retain the servants employed by the Liberals? We all know they did not, it would really be very much out of place and precedence as they are clamoring about to keep in their position men who worked and did their very best to defeat them; it is an old saying that the mills of the gods grind slowly, but the mills of the liberals are a clean sweep of all opposed to them. There are as good men in the Liberal ranks as among the Conservatives. Remarks are general that if these Tories are kept in their positions a great many will not vote for the Liberals again, but to have men of integrity at the helm, therefore we are sure that these things will be made right shortly.

Another great loyalty to the Conservatives is our "loyal orator," as they are pleased to dub him. I am sure Mr. McInnes must feel delighted that he has brought down such encomiums on himself from such a source; the people of the Pacific coast ought to feel proud that our young politicians are doing so well. Of course Mr. McInnes being the son of Senator McInnes is a double reason, Mr. Editor, why they should try to give him under. What a change there would have been if he had only been a good Conservative; his family would have been congratulated and the people generally would have been asked to rejoice that such a young man had come from among them. These Tories die hard. Why can't they, like the warriors of old, take their defeat, when they know right well, if the people had been satisfied with their government, they would have been returned to power. There is only one thing, Mr. Editor, I hope to see in the very near future and that is the solid six sent to Ottawa from the Pacific coast. LIBERAL.

Money No Object.

The amount of money sufferers from catarrh will spend in attempting to cure that foul and disagreeable disease is almost incredible. J. W. Jennings, of Gifford, Ont., says: "I spent between $200 and $300 consulting doctors; I tried all the 'treatments' without benefit. One box of Chase's Catarrh Cure did more for me than all the remedies. A 25c box cured me." Don't waste money. Chase's Cure, with improved blower, 25c. It cures.

CHILLIWACK.

Chilliwack Progress.
Mr. Duncan McInnes, who has taken charge of Mr. Vance's mine, feels confident it will turn out very rich.

Mr. James Wardell, of Hope, rumor says, has discovered some very rich gold prospects 'this side of Hope, the assay giving $300 to the ton.

The welcome rain set in early Tuesday morning and will extinguish the fires that have been raging the last few weeks in the mountains. A quantity of fine timber has been destroyed, besides damage done to the fences of some of the outlying settlers.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

An extensive bush fire is raging in Surrey municipality, with the result that the Kirkland road is blocked by fallen trees, and the great difficulty is experienced by the farmers in that locality in getting in or out.

Large numbers of Willow grouse are being killed in the vicinity of this city by Indians, who have no trouble in selling them at a good price in town. There is good reason to believe the grouse are being killed off fast, and but poor sport will remain at the beginning of the grouse season for those sportsmen who have observed the conditions of the game laws strictly. Nothing is being done at where in the district to prevent unlawful hunting.

VANCOUVER.

Advice received from Everett last night were to the effect that a recent shipment of ore from the Chance Mining Company's Bobby Burns mineral claim at Shoal Bay, near the entrance to Butte Inlet, has returned $31.20 in gold to the ton. This result is another evidence of the existence of payable ore in some of the coast mines, several of which are being vigorously worked in the vicinity of Shoal Bay and Phillips Arm.

The Shoo Fly claim in the Shoal Bay district, has been bonded by an English syndicate, a representative of which recently paid the locality a visit of inspection. The syndicate propose getting to work without delay, and for this purpose men and supplies will be sent by the next steamer going up to the Shoal Bay camp.

Amongst the arrivals on yesterday's Pacific Express was Sergeant-Major Cornish, the representative of the Mainland companies of the 14th Regiment, C. A., on the Canadian Shorebushes team. It had been proposed by the members of the local companies to give their representative a suitable welcome at the station, but the day of his arrival being unknown, this could not be done.

NANAIMO.

The Free Press has been informed on reliable authority that the Union Steamship Company has decided to withdraw the proposals now before the Nanaimo municipal council asking for a bonus of $25,000 to continue running the steamer Cutch on the Nanaimo-Vancouver route for five years, at a passenger and freight rate not exceeding what was charged when the Cutch was withdrawn. This question had received a good deal of attention from the municipal council, several conferences having taken place between the aldermen and the directors of the steamship company. The first proposition was a half subsidy of $20,000. Then it was reduced to $25,000; then an agreement was arrived at by which the city might obtain an interest (five-twelfths) in the steamer. This latter agreement, which has already been published in full in the Free Press, was discussed at a recent meeting of the council, and laid over for further consideration and amendment. It was arranged that a meeting of the committee and directors should take place this evening. In this connection it is stated, but the report is not confirmed, that the steamer City of Nanaimo has obtained the contract for the conveyance of the mails on the Nanaimo-Vancouver route.

BOUNDARY FALLS.

Boundary Creek Times.
A promising find was made last week by "Jim" Dale on the west fork of Kettle river. The claim, which is called the Carmie, has a quartz ledge running through it over four feet wide and traceable for 2,000 feet. The quartz is mineralized with iron pyrites, galena and zinc blende.

On the Rambler claim, about a mile south of Pass creek, recently stocked by the Everett & Spokane Mining Co., considerable work is to be done this winter. The claim was located by C. Frank and E. J. Davis, who ran a tunnel ber of cuts on the ledge, the estimated width of which is 30 feet on the surface. The Lexington and Silver Bowl, situated about a mile west of the Golden Giant, in Pass Creek, have the same big surface showing of arsenical iron. They were located this summer by Mr. D. H. Harrington, a well-known prospector from Butte.

The latest strike was made on Saturday and Sunday last, when a number of claims were staked up the west side of Boundary creek on Lost creek. The ore, or rather the capping, is hematite and iron pyrites. The ledge, which it is said can be traced for a distance covered by three claims, is reported to be 40 feet wide. This discovery verifies the statement that the country is hardly walked over, much less thoroughly prospected. It is very probable that the best finds in Boundary Creek district are yet to be made.

Mr. C. E. Bartholomew, one of the old-timers in the camp and the original locator of the Providence, is now working on the Combination, a claim recently staked for $500,000. The returns from the Combination assays were: Lead, 30.3-10 per cent., value, $18.12; silver, 512.8-10 ounces, valued at 68 cents (the price at that time), $348.70; gold, 2.20 ozs., valued at $66.15; total value per ton, $452.97.

THIS EVENING'S ATTRACTIONS.

"The Gay Parisians" To Be Presented at the Victoria.

"The Gay Parisians" promises to be a freshest of new French fun at the Victoria theatre to-night. This piece comes with the most enthusiastic endorsement of the comedy connoisseurs. They say that it is one long and jolly torrent of merriment with a series of rather surprising comicities and a string of characters that show their undeniable Gallic source. The piece comes from the French, being, it is stated, almost a literal translation of "Hotel de Libre Exchange," which was produced at the Nouveaute Theatre, Paris, over a year ago and is running there yet.

Its naughtiness has been pruned probably and that is all, the fun possibilities being left untouched. "The Gay Parisians" ran for over 200 nights at Hoyt's theatre, New York, and theatre-goers there pronounced it the funniest play they had ever seen. The company Charles Frohman put into it, for he owns the comedy, had possibly considerable to do with its success, for at its head is W. J. Ferguson, the finest character actor in this country, whose long list of successful creations presents no better than his Mr. Pinglet in this play. Pinglet being a queer old codger who takes another man's wife out on a certain evening to show her Paris, and gave her a jolly time. Miss Sadie Martinet plays the giddy young wife, and the other members of the company are James O. Harrow, C. B. Wells, W.
B. Shirley, Tolly Marshall, Frank Durant, Louis Hendricks, Vaughn Glaser, Frank A. Connor, Mrs. E. J. Phillips, Margaret Gordon, Claire Rodrigue, Ver-gie Graves, Judith Bordeaux, Frank Morris and Nellie McCall.

"The Gay Parisians" is now playing successfully in London under the title of "A Night Out." The story of the comedy runs something like this: "A young wife who, thinking herself neglected by her husband, goes for advice to a friend of his. She does this on a night when the husband is away from home on business. The friend advises her to go to the theatre with some friend and have a good time; he also offers himself as the wife's acquiescence, and after the theatre the two go to the Hotel Libre for supper.
There the woman finds her husband, who is really attending to business. She becomes greatly excited and there is a hubbub, but avoids her husband. The complications begin. Thoughtless she has represented herself as the friend's wife, and when the real wife is interrogated about the excitement, she starts out on an investigation. The efforts to keep the escapee from the first husband and the second wife furnish tangles out of which much fun flows.

A MESSAGE TO MEN.

Proving That True Honesty and True Philanthropy Still Exist.

If any man who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will "be heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, Loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow being to a cure.
I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind, but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more, and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all.
If you will write to me you can rely on being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy is assured.

CASCO AND DIANA

Two Victoria Schooners From Copper Islands Fog-Bound at Cape Flattery.

Bark Calithness-shire Chartered To Load Wheat at San Francisco For Great Britain.

At five o'clock last evening four tired hunters arrived in the city, after speaking the twenty-five hours previous in rowing an open boat from Cape Flattery. They are from the schooner Casco, Captain Le Blanc, which arrived at the Cape from the Copper Islands some six days ago, but which on account of the dense fog was unable to make the strait. Becoming tired of waiting for the fog to lift, the hunters decided to pull to Victoria, and unless the Casco comes in this evening a tag will be sent out for her to-morrow. Another sailing vessel, the Diana, Captain Nelson, is keeping her company. The latter schooner is also from the Copper Islands. Both schooners catches are about as reported by Captain Gilbert, of the Director. The Casco has 1010 skins and the Diana 1008. The only schooners reported were the Genera with 611 skins and the Fortuna with 700. Several vessels fog bound at the entrance of the straits, were reported by the hunters. The only one spoken was the American Girl from San Francisco.
Two of the vessels are large four-masted ships.

Tacoma, Sept. 18.—The barkentine Willie N. Hume, Capt. Brigham, has arrived from Shanghai, having made the voyage in twenty-eight days. Three seamen and Second Mate Peters succumbed to the terrible heat which prevailed when the Hume left Shanghai. Two of them were off duty for seventeen days, and Peters and one seaman were unable to resume work and are now at the marine hospital at Port Townsend.

In latitude 42 degrees 43 minutes, longitude 153 east, the fiercest typhoon Capt. Brigham has ever experienced struck the Hume. For hours she scudded before the furious gales under bare poles at the unusual rate of nine miles an hour. Heavy rains fell and the storm was a long time breaking, carrying the vessel to the southward of her course.
The waves surged across the decks in mighty billows, but the Hume rode the crest like a cork. The forecast was carried away before it could be reefed.

New York, Sept. 18.—Reports made by three vessels that arrived recently arouse the gravest fears that the three-masted ship State of Maine, which left on Sept. 4 with a cargo of coal oil for Shanghai, has been burned at sea, and that all on board, some twenty-six men, have perished. The State of Maine, Capt. A. D. D. Nichols, carried $5,000 cases of oil for the Standard Oil Company. She was a wooden ship of about 1,500 tons, built at Danversville, Maine, in 1873.

The State of Maine is well known along the Pacific coast. She has been to San Francisco a number of times.
She held the record between Shanghai

San Francisco, coal laden, went ashore near Diamond Head, four miles from Honolulu, on August 29, and was a total

Judge O'Reilly, Ashdown Green, L. B.
Hamlin.

The British bark Natuna, Capt. Freyer, which has been chartered to load salmon for Liverpool, began loading some obsolete naval stores at Esquimaux to-day. She will be towed to the outer wharf next week, where she takes on her salmon cargo.

The British bark Calithness-shire, which arrived in Royal Roads for orders yesterday, has been chartered to load wheat at San Francisco for the United Kingdom.

To-morrow the Drumcliff will finish discharging Victoria freight at the outer wharf and will be towed to Vancouver by the Lorne on Monday.

The Cambuslang, which brought a cargo of sugar to Vancouver, has been chartered to load coal at Nanaimo for San Francisco.

Russell Barber, of the bark Drum-

MEETING OF RULERS

Interview Between the Emperor of Germany and the Czar of Russia.

Kaiser William Betrays His Jealousy of Russia's Friendship Toward France.

London, Sept. 18.—The Times prints a special article this morning on the recent meeting of the emperor of Germany and the czar, of which the following is a part:

"The interviews between the emperor and czar at Gortitz consisted of two long talks. Emperor William was effectively amiable and talkative, and even rhetorical, while the czar was reticent, brief and cautious. Emperor William declared the Russo-French entente caused him satisfaction rather than anxiety, because he regarded it as a guarantee of peace. His speech then proceeded as follows: I cannot guarantee verbal accuracy, but I believe this is substantially correct. The German emperor

"The French nation does not wish war, but when those at the head of affairs declare it the nation is very liable to let itself be carried away. At present, however, France would not enter upon a great war without your co-operation, and I have complete confidence in your traditional wisdom and firmness.
I know you will not make war in order to give France the satisfaction of revenge, just as I and my allies will do nothing to furnish a pretext. I may say even more. I am glad of your intimacy with France, because that intimacy will enable us to hold in check the revolutionary spirit by which it is agitated and will help to fight and crush it.

"In Russia you have nihilism, the spirit of conspiracy, the spirit of darkness. In Germany we have scientific socialism, the spirit of destruction, disguised under the mask of hypocritical scientific formulas—a spirit which is very dangerous in a people which delights in obscure philosophical conceptions, and which imagines it understands what is obscure. In France what dominates is the thirst for overthrowing the existing order of things—the desire of novelty which takes possession of overhasty and comfortable people when they feel time lie heavily on their hands.

"We ought to act as the guardians of the order and the protectors of the peace of the world. It is a most urgent question. It is the salvation of all, and if we march forward together, if we unite in order to-day to combat the enemy of God and kings, we shall be rewarded by the gratitude of the world and of history."

"With regard to the czar's reply, there are but two reports current. According to one, Czar Nicholas shook Emperor William warmly by the hand and said:
'I am absolutely in agreement with you, and am ready to join in a work which is worthy of our united efforts.'

"According to another report, the czar seemed not altogether at ease when the emperor was speaking of France, and on hearing the peroration he expressed merely in vague terms his pacific intentions. The latter version seems the more probable, and more in harmony with the character of Nicholas. However, there is no doubt that Emperor William subsequently declared himself satisfied with the reply."

BY BOOK POST.

I have mentioned several times the admirable series of the works of standard authors issued by the American Book Company called the Eclectic English Classics. The object of their publication is to bring good reading within the easy reach of people with little money to spend on books and especially of young readers. The latest additions to the series which I have received are three volumes of widely differing appeals to interest. The first of these is "The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin," the next, "Homer's Iliad" (Pope's translation), and the third, "The Princess." These books are all well bound and printed and sold at nominal prices. They contain carefully prepared introductions, biographical sketches of the authors, and explanatory notes of difficult points or words in the texts.

One is prepared for a new edition of Franklin's Autobiography by the revival of interest in the career and achievements of this notable American as evidenced in recent magazine articles. The study of his life is beneficial from many standpoints. It is a lesson in diplomacy and incidentally in honesty. His was a case of "virtue rewarded" with substantial worldly benefits and of brilliant talents used freely and unhesitatingly to promote the best interests of his country.

The school-boy or girl who has not read the glowing Iliad through the happy medium of Alexander Pope is incompletely equipped for the hours of work and play to come. It is a journey into the world, an old new world, peopled with remarkable folk whose sayings and doings will echo down the ages. And the youth who is ignorant even of their names will miss much in literature and his own speech and writing.

"The Princess" is and possibly always will be among the least known of Tennyson's works. It is not that it is the least ambitious, perhaps, with the exception of the "Idylls of the King." But whether it has less of the exquisite music and more of the obvious lesson in it, or whether it has merely shared the fate of many long poems, is difficult to determine. The subject and plot are certainly of pleasant interest, the two ladies masquerading in the girls' university, and there is a quaint humor in the character-sketching and the development of the "situations." Perhaps the appearance of the work in this already popular series will make its merits more widely acknowledged.

A new edition of "Ardath" has appeared, and the people who find nourishment in the works of Marie Corelli will no doubt be correspondingly happy. This is the story, it will be remembered in which the authoress slays the critics in a variety of ways. She begins by sticking needles and pins into them, then proceeds with pitchforks and other effective instruments, then riddles the "vicious" with bullets and finally resurrects the corpses to mutilate them in several ways which she overlooked when she first started in to dispose of them. Anyone who is anxious to see how this can be done has only to read "Ardath." Outside of these little pleasures on the part of the authoress, the story is sufficiently starting in itself to excite a perusal. The hero's experiences are only exceeded in marvel by his long-windedness. Indeed, the conversational attitudes displayed by all the principal characters are abundant in the extreme. It is difficult at no time for any of them to speak for a page or so without a break. What most favorably strikes the discriminating reader in this as in other of Marie Corelli's books is her wonderful capacity for description. Beautiful word pictures flash in and out of her stories with illuminating power. "Ardath" is no exception, either, to the customary crudeness displayed by this clever writer, the pretensions, however, the crudeness of George Eliot, which is never flaunting and which leads to a scholarly simplicity.

The Argonaut of Sept. 14th has several lengthy editorials on current topics, principally political. Whether we like it or not we shall have to have our daily newspaper food strongly flavored with politics for many weeks to come. One editorial in the issue, as in the several issues before, deals with the spread of tuberculosis in California. This subject is receiving a good deal of attention from the alarmed populace. "A Trip Through the Air" is described at length, showing how Andrew Aitken solved the problem of aerial navigation.

The front-page cartoons of Judge of Sept. 12th makes a monkey of Bryan. The silver candidate is represented with human accompaniments holding a contribution box out to the western workmen. The western mine-owner is turning the organ. The central cartoon pictures the old-fashioned Jeffersonian Democracy dandy as refusing to pull the "Populist" chariot.

Leslie's Weekly has as its two main features in its issue of September 10th, a new adventure in "Prince Kabina's Experiments," which accounts for that bold gentleman's first burglary, and an article by Prof. W. G. Sumner: "The Free College of Silver is Impracticable at Every Point."

The September Romance is enlarged and its price advanced. In future a more varied table of contents will be offered. Besides the illustrations which have hitherto distinguished it from the herd of small magazines, there will be as well more stories and miscellaneous information. In the issue British Sturges has a clever little character sketch, "A Momentary Madness." There is the usual horror in the line of a ghost-story and an illustrated article of interest on St. Gaudens.

September Table Talk is out in a new full costume and presents a fund of timely information about what we are to eat. Besides the usual menus and recipes there are two or three unusual gastronomic articles. Elizabeth Grinnell gives a tempting account of the pleasures of a restricted diet, showing that the invalid who is forbidden a variety of articles of food may still tickle his palate and regain his health. There is another of Mrs. Burton Kingsland's papers on "Friends in Council," this one on how to give delicate luncheons at small cost. A number of odd entries are detailed in a brief paper by E. R. Parker.

Current literature justifies its object of existence in the September number. All the departments are abundantly supplied.

LI HUNG AND THE CHINESE PROBLEM.

To the Editor: A mainland journal devotes a large amount of its space to a biography of that wily old rascal, Li Hung Chang, and an account of the reception given him at Vancouver. A few extracts with appropriate comments, will interest the thoughtful reader. In his reply to the address of the city council he says: "During my journey in crossing the American continent, the choice of the route has been made not only to show my sincere friendship for Great Britain, but also with the object of studying the expansion of the Chinese labor market in a new country. Here we have perhaps the main object of the astute Oriental's observation—to find a profitable field into which to pour his hordes of coolie slaves. How much does this 'grand old' money maker get from the Six Companies for allowing them to deport these coolies. No wonder he told the Board of Trade that they should oppose restriction. If $500 entrance tax were increased to $5000 who would be the last?—Li's as the Six Companies or their bondsmen? No wonder he sees the immediate increase of this tax, could he make that the great Li himself given us. To Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney he said he 'admired the province, but what it needed was population.' Truly, but not a population of Chinese bondsmen. To a reporter he stated that he thought 'the general condition of the people here was good, but that they would not be worse off if there was more cheap labor. Now see how considerate of our women the slaving old importation agent is. 'The women,' he says, 'would live longer in more of the drudgery of everyday life were taken from the Chinese man and that was just where the Chinaman with his economical ability (as a cook?) and his unflagging industry came in useful.' Oh yes, let every Canadian housewife take into her kitchen and her home sanctuary (her nursery and bedroom) a pagan coolie, so that the wealthy Li and the honest servant girl and housemaid may be crowded into the street. Out on the humanity and glorious Christianity that could be so duped by such a wily schemer—poison, too, as a philanthropist! We have heard of certain great personages quoting scripture to further their own purposes. How good of the benevolent Li to ask the reporter to say to 'the people of America, that he hoped they would do unto others as they wished to be done by.' Does our Chinese moralist act on this Golden Rule? Has he opened China to the immigration of all classes of Christians? Would he allow a thousand or ten thousand white natives to enter his empire without restriction to build the railways? Is he now projecting? By treaty he is bound to admit our merchants or traders, as also are we his. He draws the line of exclusion at working people; why should not we do likewise? Let us have Chinese merchants, traders, contractors, engineers and capitalists. Our people of these classes believe in competition. Let them have it, it may do them good. But let us keep out of our fields, our workshops, and above all, our houses the contract laborer, the coolie, the slave. As the representative of a populous nation it was right to treat Li with courtesy and consideration, but it should have been simply the courtesy that may be shown to the poorest or the proudest potentate by a self-respecting people. What winking sentimentalism to compare the pagan diplomat to the Christian statesman, Gladstone and Li Hung Chang! 'China's Grand Old Man.' What nonsense to accuse the Rev. Mr. Maxwell of discourtesy in discussing the subject of Chinese restriction in parliament while Li was the guest of our government! Surely it was rather true magnanimity to do this than to wait till Li had left our shores and was unable to reply, as he has actually done, in his utterances at Vancouver. No doubt had the ambassador gone to Ottawa the reverend gentleman would be ready, and he boldly has discussed the subject in his hearing, and in doing these would neither have been discourteous nor want of respect. Li chose not to go to Ottawa. It was better therefore, that he should read the discussion while in our country—and there were no bitter or unmanly words in Mr. Maxwell's speech—than that he should hear only the fawning official class, and go back to his own land with the idea that the opponents of his importation schemes were few, and weak and timid. It was better for us if more of Mr. Maxwell's ministerial brethren and his political associates would take his noble and manly stand on this burning question. It is a question which will not down; which cannot be blinked; and which must be settled. It is an utter misconception of terms to speak of the Chinese coolie as an immigrant. He is simply an importation, a transitory visitant, a leech, a parasite, a cancer on our industrial, social, commercial and political system. He has no interest in our material progress, in our institutions or our laws, excepting in so far as they may affect his opportunities to earn some money. His presence here is a bar to the coming of the true immigrant of our own race, whose industry—not leech-like as is the coolie's—would become a real contributor to the developed wealth of our province. These thoughts cannot be more fittingly concluded and clinched than by a quotation or two from the Rev. Mr. Maxwell's speech in the house at Ottawa. "I used to think," he said, "that it was a good opportunity to Christianize the Chinese if they came to our shores, but the practical difficulty of the problem, when I came to understand them, have changed my views on Chinese immigration." He contended that the labor question was the real cause of the controversy. "When you feed three Chinamen you take the bread out of the mouth of a Canadian, you close up a home in British Columbia, you banish a family out of our province." On the need of having Chinese cheap labor to develop our resources, he pointedly declared that "there is no more reason why we should have Chinese cheap labor with us than anywhere else. Our fisheries, our mines, our lumber works, are just as able to pay white men white men's wages in British Columbia as in Ontario, Montreal, or anywhere else." Mr. Maxwell was right in telling our Eastern brethren that if they had the Chinese problem at their doors as we

POINT-ELLICE BRIDGE.

To the Editor:—Permit me most respectfully through the medium of your valuable paper to draw the attention of all whom it may concern to the fact that the time is near at hand when the Point Ellice bridge disaster will be ventilated in the law courts and someone must pay the piper. The Colonist would have all responsibility of the disaster of the 20th of May placed on the shoulders of our city fathers. The council in their turn throw the blame on the city engineer. The latter, in his evidence, however, the chairman of the committee of streets and bridges got work done without the knowledge or sanction of the engineer. Now, sir, it may be to the interest of certain responsible public men to throw all damages and blame on the city council, which of course means the ratepayers. We must first look back to the provincial government, who built the bridge, which was intended for light traffic only, but afterwards they handed it over to the tram company, who received it with a free hand, with no restrictions as to weight of cars, the number of passengers to be carried over at a time, or as to making the bridge stronger.

It must be distinctly understood that the bridge did not become part of the city limits till some time after it had been in use by the tramway company. That being the case the city fathers cannot be held alone responsible for the calamity of the 20th of May. It is the opinion of a great number of industrial and thinking people of Victoria that the provincial government is liable, and should pay an equal share with the city and tramway company.

The city council may save the ratepayers a vast amount of cash if they put their brains in street and use every endeavor to settle the important question by arbitration, avoid the law courts and save the ratepayers' money.

THE CHINESE DIFFICULTY.

To the Editor: The Chinese question needs no argument, as far as the people of Victoria are concerned, for all here are aware of the great hindrance the poor white man has to endure through the presence here of large numbers of Chinese of the lower order. Nearly every hotel and restaurant in this city employs Chinese almost exclusively in the kitchen.

The lumber yards employ Chinese labor for carrying and stacking boards and timber. The Chinese do nearly all the washing and ironing of the city and they may be seen every Sunday carrying bundles of dirty clothes to commence their week's work. They have no day of rest, and their days are long, commencing early and working late. There is no sort of work that a hardy man here might seek that is not already monopolized by the Chinamen. The consequence of all this is that the white laborer has been forced to retire from the scene to seek a living elsewhere, and this must account in some measure for the large number of empty houses in Victoria at present.

The Australian workmen suffered for many years from the competition of cheap Chinese labor, until it caused a great strike in the shipping trade. The Australian legislators took the matter up by instituting a tax that amounted to the prohibition of Chinese immigration. The colony of New South Wales levies from the captain of every vessel carrying Chinese a poll tax of £100 per head from every Chinaman before he can be allowed to land in that colony. It has had the desired effect of stopping Chinese immigration. The very few who have returned to China have been unable to reach Australia a second time because of the tax, some have since died, and some have spread over the Pacific coast of Canada than it was in Australia, because here the Chinese have almost supplanted the female domestic, and have monopolized the washing and ironing business so that there is little left for the white women to do, and therefore little encouragement for young women desirous of coming to this country.

If British citizenship is worth anything at all, it should give the British subject the preference over the Mongolian as an immigrant and settler on British soil. Victoria, Sept. 17.

The Weather for Colds.

This is the time when colds are in the fashion—everybody who is anybody has one, if not himself there's one in the family. For no complaint under the sun are there more remedies than for a cold in the head, but of the thousands Chase's Catarrh Cure is the best. "In twelve hours I was cured of a bad cold in the head by Chase's Cure," writes Miss Dwyer, Alliston, Ont. 25c. of all druggists, with blower free.

UNHAPPY ARMENIANS A WRECKED LAUNCH

Now Accused of Conspiracy by the Turkish Police—Incriminating Documents Found.

Grand Vizier Threatens To Resign—British Residents State Their Lives are in Danger.

Little Hope for Distressed Armenians—Great Britain Can't Act Alone.

Constantinople, Sept. 18.—The police announce that they have made an important discovery of bombs and other explosives and incriminating documents in an Armenian house in the Faubourg St. George. Two of the leaders and many of the members of the Armenian committee have been arrested in connection with the discovery and have confessed their guilt. They have also denounced many of their accomplices to the police. The police have a hope of being soon able to unearth the whole plot.

London, Sept. 18.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Morning Post says: The Grand Vizier, Halil Rifat Pasha, threatens to resign unless the minister of police is dismissed on account of the recent massacre. The Sultan upholds the police minister and refused to accept the resignation of the Grand Vizier.

The Standard publishes a dispatch from Constantinople that the Young Turk party is covering the city with placards inciting the people to destroy the Sultan. Serious trouble, it is added, is certain to occur within a week. Turkish troops are nightly deporting Armenians to the Black Sea, where, it is believed, they are drowned. The British residents, at the instance of the British embassy, have telegraphed to Lord Salisbury, stating that their lives and property are in danger. The French residents have taken similar action. The British and French fleets are now near the mouth of the Dardanelles. Lord Pasha, one of the Sultan's aides-de-camp was questioned as to how long the forts along the Dardanelles could check the passage of the warships, and he replied that they could stop them in almost half an hour.

The British foreign office has given out the following semi-official note: "The outbreak of the continental press against Great Britain, which is accused of selfish designs in the east, has astonished official circles. Nothing that is being done or contemplated by the government could give the slightest color to such assertions. The government cannot hold itself responsible for the natural horror inspired in the minds of the public by the atrocities at Constantinople. The policy of Great Britain has, however, undergone no change whatever, and the government is acting in complete accord with the other powers, as it has hitherto done. Nevertheless it is becoming obvious that the public feeling in Great Britain has been so surcharged by the shocking events in Constantinople that the government would never be supported in again siding with the Porte. If the powers cannot see their way to adopt means to co-operate to end the carnage the only course open to Great Britain is to stand aside and to hope for a more satisfactory state of affairs."

The St. James' Gazette publishes a special dispatch from Washington in which it is asserted that President Cleveland is determined that the United States warship Bancroft, now on her way to Turkish waters, shall enter the Bosphorus. The government at Washington, the dispatch says, is fully informed of the plans of Lord Salisbury, and if the ships of the British fleet force the Straits of the Dardanelles, the American warships will follow and preserve order without engaging the Turkish fleet.

Several of the leading principal papers, including the Leeds Mercury, Liberal, and the Yorkshire Post, "Concurrence," concur in the view that the joint action of the British and American warships at Constantinople would be a magnificent and effective co-operation.

More conflicts are reported to have occurred between Turkish troops and insurgents in Macedonia. News has been received at Athens that 100 insurgents have been killed and the consent of St. Demetrius, near Corfu.

The British Mediterranean fleet as expected arrived at the Island of Lemnos (Island of Stalim) today. Active preparations for sea are daily proceeding among the vessels composing the Russian Black Sea squadron. The official communiqué prohibits a meeting of foreigners and says all foreigners who do not enjoy the confidence of the government will be expelled.

A special dispatch received from Rome says that Vice-Admiral Casanova with the flying squadron, leaves for the Levant at the earliest possible moment.

Vienna, Sept. 18.—The Neue Freie Presse says the inspection of the forts of the Dardanelles by a Russian general is the Sultan's reply to England's efforts to force him to abdicate. It is also the response of Russia, which has taken the Sultan under its protection, to England's menace.

At New York.—This condition is a sure indication that your blood is not rich and nourishing as it ought to be and as it may be if you will take a few bottles of the great blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Thousands write that Hood's Sarsaparilla has cured them of that tired feeling by giving them rich, red blood.

Messrs Anderson and Macdonald Reach Vancouver After Losing Launch at Cape Mudge.

A few days ago D. J. Becker reported that he had discovered a wrecked launch about 150 miles north of Vancouver, and that it was supposed that Messrs. Anderson and Macdonald had been drowned as it was known that they had left for the north in a launch. The launch, however, both gentlemen escaped and Mr. Anderson gives the News-Advertiser the following particulars of the trip.

About the beginning of July, Messrs. Anderson and Macdonald reached Vancouver from across the line, bound northwards on a pleasure cruise. After an enjoyable stay here, they got away, and headed their launch, which was a craft about 35 feet in length, for points up the coast. They had a very pleasant run up, calling on the way at numerous logging and fishing camps and ranchers' places. Shoal Bay and Phillips Arm were visited, and the northerly run was continued up the coast to Port Neville or higher still. Then the return trip was commenced, all going well for a while. Leaving McKay's camp, which is on Vancouver Island, opposite the northern part of Valdes Island, September 1st, the launch was blown about by a strong northerly wind and a brief stay was made in a small bay along the Vancouver Island coast, and a short distance below Cape Mudge. Leaving this sheltered cove one evening, a start was made to run across to one of the islands on the opposite side of the straits, and now it was that the trouble began. Getting into the tide rip off Cape Mudge the craft, which was carrying material and 11 in addition to her steam power, was tumbled about and a strong northerly wind was encountered, and this made the boat almost unmanageable for one man, Macdonald being by this time too sick to give any help. Anderson, however, stuck to his task, but he was unable to take in sail and keep the little steamer head to wind as well. Eventually he managed to get the job done and a couple of reefs in the mainsail, but meanwhile the boat had shipped a lot of water, which put out the fire and rendered her almost unmanageable in such a sea and wind. By this time Anderson, whose compass had unfortunately been washed overboard and the thick smoke obscuring the surroundings, was quite at a loss as to his surroundings. Presently the steamer struck a rock, but getting clear an attempt was made to keep her going, and preventing her from becoming quite water-logged. Finally a large rock rising well above the sea was met with, so, fearing that the steamer was going to sink, Anderson managed to get his sick companion on to the rock. He then took their 12-foot tender and let the launch drift away. Some time was spent on the rock, and then, the wind having lulled, a start was made for the shore. During the following morning a rancher's place was met with, but the launch was still water-logged. Eventually, after waiting in vain for a steamer to pick them up, they were taken in a sloop to Gibson's Landing, Howe Sound, and journey thence to Vancouver in a small tug.

Mr. Anderson, who is now none the worse for his rough experience, states that this is the third season he has spent cruising in the straits and among the islands along the coast, but the first time he has had other than a pleasant experience. He purposes leaving for the States about the end of this week.

American News.— Wichita, Kan., Sept. 18.—An examination of the papers left by Henry Dixon, who died in the ambulance here, reveals the fact that Dixon was of noble birth and that his wife was the granddaughter of the Earl of Albemarle and daughter of Lady Georgina Hill, who eloped with Thomas McGinn, the Fenian agitator. The story was told in an old diary found among Dixon's papers. During the boom days of Wichita they moved here from Australia. Subsequently they had trouble and Mrs. Dixon went east. Financial reverses brought Dixon to the poorhouse.

The players remaining at the bat, H. B. St. George, the great slow bowler from Hamilton, made a fine display of his skill, getting 8 wickets for 29 runs in the second innings, and helping to put out seven men in the Wanderers first innings. His quick execution was a feature of the day's play. In two days the score was: Wanderers, first innings, 79; second innings, 100 for nine wickets. Canadians, first innings, 107; second innings, 70 for six wickets. The Canadians play a picket city team today.

NAVIGATING IN THE AIR.

Successful Test Last Evening of the Albatross Flying Machine.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—The first free test of Octave Chanute's "Albatross" flying machine, invented and constructed by William Paul, was made at Millers, Ind., last evening, under favorable conditions. While the machine was heavily loaded with ballast to prevent it flying away great distance, it was anchored by four ropes, each 200 feet long. There were three points which the trial was to decide: First, as to whether it would leave the chute; second, whether it would right itself in the air; third, whether, when it commenced to descend, would it move downward slowly and slightly easily. These were all determined in a manner gratifying both to the inventor and onlookers. The flight was less than one hundred feet, but the descent and final alighting was graceful and as even as those of the bird from which the machine is patterned. Another test will be made today if the wind is favorable.
